Grace and peace to you from God our Father and our Lord Jesus Christ!

This is how Paul begins most of his letters to the many churches he served and corresponded with. If I am going to steal an opening line to a letter, who better to steal it from than one of the first interim pastors out there! Of course, when Paul wrote to a church, he REALLY wrote to a church!

As I begin my interim call to First, I am looking ahead with excitement at the ministry that God has placed before me. A big part of my getting to know the church includes getting to know the people that make up the church family; and that is you! I want to hear your story. I want to know why you are a member at First. I want to know what you like. I want to know what you would do different. I want to know how you participate in the life of the church. And then we will together look to the future and the next chapter in the life of First Presbyterian Church.

So, we begin this interim journey together. And in the midst of all of our stories, conversations, worship, and fellowship we will never lose sight of why we are a church family in the first place. We begin and end with a love that is so great that our human language cannot encompass it. And this love is made known to us through Jesus our Lord and Savior. We will continually look to Jesus for guidance and direction. And we will do our best to follow his call to love God and to love and care for one another.

In Christ's Service,
Pastor Kemper
